

Rafael Amorós

Business Development and Scouting Manager

Rafael Amorós is a member of the Telefónica Ventures Team. +10 years of experience designing networks, leading key proposals, evaluating new technologies and researching industry trends working in Telefonica in Product and engineering areas. + 3 years in contact with startups and the whole entrepreneurship area. Before, He worked in Wayra (Telefónica Seed Stage Corporate Venturing Unit) managing the portfolio of +500 startups generating >50M€ for company. Rafa holds a Telecommunications Engineer UMH, MBA IE Business School, Certificate in Entrepreneurship and Innovation from Stanford University, Executive Program from ISBIF Venture Capital. Mentor of Startups, blogger on innovation specifically in Think Big Empresas Telefonica Blog. Strong Technical skills in Cyber, Networking and Cloud adding special vision in scale business. Passionate about innovation, he understands innovation as the only tool to achieve digital transformation and change for new opportunities in the market. Constant participation in innovation projects and judging different programs as GCHQ accelerator program, star4big and so on..