BRASILCEL ANNOUNCES ITS INTENTION TO LAUNCH VOLUNTARY TENDER OFFERS FOR TELESUDESTE, TELE LESTE, CRT AND TCO

Madrid, August 25, 2004.- Brasilcel, the 50-50 joint-venture of Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom for mobile operations in Brazil, operating under the brand Vivo, announces its intention of launching voluntary cash tender offers for a portion of the outstanding shares of some of its subsidiaries, directly, and indirectly through its subsidiary Telesp Celular Participações (TCP).

With these transactions, Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom affirm and seek to reinforce their commitment to the Brazilian cellular market and to Vivo, and Brasilcel seeks to increase its ownership interest in its subsidiaries. In addition, these offers will provide an opportunity to remunerate those minority shareholders tendering their shares at a premium to market prices.

The Proposed Tender Offers

Brasilcel intends to launch voluntary cash tender offers for the following securities of its subsidiaries:

- Tele Sudeste Celular Participações (TSD): up to 7,332 million Common shares (ON) and 12,700 million Preferred shares (PN).
- Tele Leste Celular Participações (TBE): up to 16,723 million ON and 92,499 million PN shares.
- Celular CRT Participações (CRT): up to 61 million ON and 442 million PN shares.

Simultaneously, TCP intends to launch a voluntary cash tender offer for up to 84,253 million PN shares of Tele Centro Oeste Celular Participações (TCO).

The number of shares that Brasilcel and TCP will be offering to acquire has been determined to allow Brasilcel and TCP to increase their participation in the subject companies without suppressing the liquidity of the remaining shares of those classes for purposes of Brazilian Comissão de Valores Mobiliários (CVM) regulations (specifically Instruction 361).

TBE	0.90	1.10
CRT	575.31	718.69
TCO	-----	10.70

These offer prices represent a premium of 20% over the respective weighted average closing price of each class of shares in the last 30 trading days prior to announcement.

Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom intend to provide funding to Brasilcel for the tender offers on a 50-50 basis. TCP intends to fund its tender offer with debt and, taking into account the outcome of the tender offer, amongst other factors, will evaluate a potential capital increase, if it considers a reduction of its level of indebtedness to be advisable.

The Rationale

Increase Brasilcel's ownership of its subsidiaries

Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom have increased their ownership in the Vivo subsidiaries since their initial acquisition, and these offers will further increase their economic interest, while allowing continuing liquidity in the equity capital markets for those shares.

Opportunity for minority shareholders to realize gains

These offers provide the minority shareholders with the opportunity of selling their shares at a premium over market prices and to realize gains.

Reinforces Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom's commitment to the Brazilian cellular market and to Vivo

Telefónica Móviles and Portugal Telecom continue to believe the Brazilian cellular market, with 160 million inhabitants and relatively low cellular penetration, continues to offer substantial growth potential. The proposed transaction strengthens Vivo's position in the Brazilian market and enhances its participation in the potential growth of its subsidiaries.
